Susan Fletcher (<https://firstliberty.org/cases/susan-fletcher/>)

December 19, 2019

When Susan Fletcher, a graphic designer, went to a website to create customized stamps celebrating two upcoming holidays – Christmas and Texas Independence Day – she discovered that the United States Postal Services prohibits stamp designs that incorporate religious symbols or speech.

Judge Dianne Hensley (<https://firstliberty.org/cases/judge-dianne-hensley/>)

December 16, 2019

After receiving many requests for weddings, Judge Dianne Hensley found a way to reconcile her religious convictions while serving the needs of her community. Despite her efforts, she was brought before the Texas State Commission on Judicial Conduct and issued a warning.

Delaware Nativity Scene (<https://firstliberty.org/cases/delaware-nativity-scene/>)

December 12, 2019

For decades, a free-standing nativity has been part of the Christmas holiday tradition in the town circle in Rehoboth Beach, Delaware. But last year, the City ordered it removed because it is “religious.” Of course, this is a clear violation of the First Amendment. First Liberty Institute has urged the City to reverse its recent blanket ban of the nativity from any city property.

Daniela Barca (<https://firstliberty.org/cases/daniela-barca/>)

December 11, 2019

NY school official's have denied the application of a student club stating that a club “to gather and talk about spreading the hope of Jesus” could not be recognized as an official club unless it modified its viewpoint to something more “generic” and “couldn’t limit it to the Christian Faith.”

Skylar Cason

(<https://firstliberty.org/cases/cason/>)

November 20, 2019

Students should never feel shame and guilt as a part of an assignment at school. But that's exactly how Skylar Cason felt when her teacher at Steamboat Springs High School required her to read, listen to, and contemplate vulgarities and descriptions of sexual violence against women and other obscene content in class. First Liberty has come to the defense of students forced to read explicit material at school.
